

WHY A DELIVERY SERVICE?

Well, times are a changing, that's for sure. It seems everything in life these days is either shipped to your door, or delivered to you by the hoards of company's out there delivering goods such as, food , documents, check carriers, pharmaceutical medicine delivery carriers, just to mention a few.

CVS a huge drug dispensary has just launched home delivery in 2019 of their prescription drugs for their customers. Obviously this was a muffled attempt to respond to (Pill Pack) an Amazon Company's idea of home delivery of drugs to patients including the elderly that may not be able to find their way to the pharmacy to fill their prescriptions.

What a year it has been in this space! Everybody is now currying pharmaceutical drugs to stay ahead of the competition nipping at their tail! We at QPD want in on this explosive industry however, our vision is quite different.

We're going to offer a delivery service like no other. Catering to the dispensary's to quickly and quietly move their wares to their intended destination while providing a flagship service for their customers.

Let's think for a minute:

How many lives do you think might have been saved if in fact there was Alcohol Delivery's since, oh, say, since 1995? Well guess what, someone dropped the ball.

If individuals are consuming Alcohol, its only common sense that when they run out they have to get behind the wheel of a motor vehicle to go their local package store, thus, driving drunk! This has no doubt happened millions of times and nobody but nobody ever thought about delivery of Alcohol to save maybe just 100 lives, let alone maybe 10,000 lives. Alcohol is far more destructive then Cannabis and it's sold on every corner in America!

If people are drinking in the home what better way to keep them off the roads, by delivering the product to their front door, thus keeping the automobiles in the driveways where they belong!

This is just a sample of how we think at QPD. No one should have to be driving around with Cannabis in their car (coming home from dispensary purchases). This just increases the chances that irresponsible people will use Cannabis while driving. Or vandals, kids, stumbling onto Cannabis when they break into a car to steal items.

Delivery service of a controlled substance is the best invention since the napkin, and it didn't happen until 2019 on a large scale! It's unfortunate that all your big powerful lawmakers could not see the benefit that we just pointed out above regarding Alcohol way back when. It's so bizarre, that some nightspots and clubs have package stores attached to their bars. They let you purchase more alcohol on your way out while driving home drunk!

Let's think for a minute:

You're on way home from a dispensary, you just picked up a few pre rolls, some flower and some gummy bears. You get pulled over for a tail light being out. As the officer walks up to your vehicle the aroma of fresh flower hits him in the face. You go through the entire spiel that you just came from a dispensary. Who cares, we because we smell flower, we have probable cause to search and maybe de-construct your vehicle to ensure you're in possession of only the allowed amount.

I mean what way for drug traffickers to pitch this on the interstate when pulled over. You see the bounty's on LIVE PD that are being seized. So don't think for a minute that your lame story is going to satisfy an overzealous police officer. He will be ripping your car apart before you can say Peabody Massachusetts.

Why take the chance? Even though it's legal just the smell can cause you to be delayed on the side of the road for hours. We strongly suggest you watch A&E's LIVE PD. Eight out of ten traffic stops result in pot searches, with dogs included even though it's legal. Hey, they have to make sure you don't have bricks in your wheel wells or fake bottomless gas tanks filled with pot.

QPD's reason for entering this space is exactly this! Other services although fast and reliable see a convenience as their motivators for entering this space. We see convenience also, but more importantly, we see YOUR SAFETY as key.

Sincerely,

The QPD Team
